

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

I am appalled to think in a country where we preach free speech that it is possible for the media to be unfairly controlled by corporations. We are entitled to receive fair, unbiased information. It is not okay that a large corporation should be able to get away with controlling what we watch to further their own selfish political motivations.